About Vincent

Vince focuses his practice on Ohio Workers' Compensation matters, limited to employer representation. His clients vary from sole proprietorships to large, self-insured employers.

Vince has experience in all facets of Ohio Workers' Compensation, from the initial investigation of an injury, through the administrative process, violations of a specific safety requirement (VSSR), mandamus and into court. Vince has tried cases before the Ohio Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of Ohio. Vince takes a special interest in small-to-medium size businesses when representing their interests before the Industrial Commission of Ohio and the courts.

As an example of his work related to employment issues and Workers' Compensation benefits, Vince has achieved verdicts in favor of the employer via mandamus action on the issue of voluntary abandonment and establishing that the employee was terminated appropriately by the employer.

In an Ohio Workers' Compensation case, he was successful in arguing before the Supreme Court of Ohio in re-opening a permanent total disability determination and obtaining a decision that an employee was not permanently and totally disabled.

Vince has earned designation as a Workers' Compensation Specialist by the Ohio State Bar Association. In addition to defending employers' interests in Workers' Compensation matters, Vince also acts as an arbitrator for the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).
